Lisa Currie is the author of The Scribble Diary. Her hometown is Melbourne, Australia, but she's probably not there right now.

I'm a single mom of a ten year old who hirms and haws when it's time to come inside and be a part of our family after playing with peers. I bring this book out over dinner sometimes to inspire conversation with my world-weary son. Even though it feels like it's set up for couples, it's a lovely tool to spark reflective discussion about shared experiences, find common ground, and admire each others creativity and artistic ability.

This is not what I expected. This seems more aimed at younger kids not two adults

I got this for my best friend when she moved back home. Her and I have been filling out all the amazing stuff inside every time we hang out! Really fun way to make and keep the little details and memories

This book is adorable and really fun to fill out with someone you care about. My husband and I bought this for our vacation to Alaska together to help pass the time while sitting in coffee shops or at restaurants and it's been really fun to fill out. I would suggest having some colored pencils on hand or something though, as there is a lot of doodling.

I gave my boyfriend this book for Valentine's Day and he loved it; it was a nice gift idea. The beginning of the book explains different ways that it can be used e.g. with friendships, family relationships, romantic relationships, etc. In my case, it's a great way to collect fun memories and spark interesting conversations. I highly recommend!

Good for couple or friends. We're enjoying to fill it out

This book is such a great idea, be it for friends or couples or even as the book suggests doing pages with a variety of people. I bought it for my hubby & I & it's been entertaining. I also like that you can keep track of when & where you fill out each page.

I absolutely love this book. My fiancé and I try to do a couple of pages every couple of days. It's a great way to bond and remind us why we love each other!
