This is a practical book on either how to get a job or start a business in the various sex-love-dating-wedding industries. There are some g-rated jobs and businesses and some x-rated jobs. Escorting is physical contact for sex, massages, etc. but the internet created a new job called webcam modeling where you sit in your room, undress, masturbate and play with anonymous men who ask you to do things then give you monetary tips. It's as easy as going on a webcam porn website, looking at the bottom of the page where they usually have an icon to mouse-click if you want to be a webcam model. The girl I know who did it filled out a big questionnaire with a bunch of questions asking her what she was willing to do on camera. She submitted her application and within an hour got an email to activate her account. Over weeks and months, she learned how to be seductive with the guys watching her and made good money. The only thing is that some of these guys record your action so if you plan to run for president someday, some guy might come out and say she was a webcam model. I got proof. It's immoral. It's not really immoral. It's just getting naked for money. Nowadays, porn has gone the way of near-monopoly industries. About three porn companies control almost all the porn in the United States. The porn anyone produces has to be technically good, in HD with proper lighting. The golden age for porn-producers was the 1980s when porn was deemed not obscene by the U.S. Supreme Court. Hundreds of producers got in on making porn. When the internet came along, a few of the big players like tube8, pornhub and xhamster allowed anyone to upload porn to them for free which is free to anyone to download and stream. They make their money selling HD porn. Porn girls aka adult actresses hardly make a living at porn anymore unless they're contract girls for the porn company Vivid/ Wicked Pictures. The others try to get some fame doing porn then use that fame to headline as strippers. Lots of women sell sex toys to women at home through sex-toy-lingerie parties. Back in the day, porn stars were considered the shameful lowest people of society. It was even considered disgraceful if a young woman posed nude or semi-nude for soft-core porn pictures which are about the equivalent of some photos in any mainstream women's magazine nowadays. There was a fight for the legalization of sex work as with adult magazines, porn videos and other media. The fight goes on today in many areas for sex work or what some people call prostitution, redlight work, escorting work. Many people fear doing sex work because it's there for life, the porn pictures, the criminal record for the arrest of prostitution, etc. but most people nowadays don't care. A former Italian porn star got elected to be a federal politician. A science teacher was found to have done porn in the past. She was fired then immediately hired by another schoolboard. I've seen former nurses, teachers ...
