The Metropolitan Museum Of Art: Metropolitan Cats (Paintings, Sculpture, Prints, Drawings, Book Illustrations, Needlework, Lacquers, And Ceramics)

Synopsis

Beautiful oversized hardcover. The cats of the Metropolitan Museum of Art speak for themselves, proudly displaying their dominance over their human companions through fifty centuries of paintings, sculpture, prints, drawings, book illustrations, needlework, lacquers, and ceramics. From the temples of ancient Egypt to the sidewalks of nineteenth-century Paris, from Chinese gardens to medieval kitchens, these independent, devious, curious, and lovable creatures make their own statements about their wishes and desires. Showing cats in all sizes, shapes and colors, and as cuddly kittens, hieratic images, and hunters on the prowl. Metropolitan Cats proves that artists have recognized what every cat lover knows: that cats are the most remarkable and endlessly interesting creatures of all. Illustrated throughout with beautiful color plates of cats in art at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

This book arrived on time in great condition. The price was modest. Thank you!

I enjoyed looking at all the varieties of kitties and their positions in portraits and paintings and whatever. Somehow it seems special the cats were valued enough to be included in family/intimate pictures.

Love this book!
