Synopsis

This workbook, Wacky Sentences Handwriting Workbook, is designed to inspire interest in cursive handwriting. This workbook focuses on writing complete sentences in cursive. Kids enjoy writing wacky sentences like, Ã¢â ¬Å“Two rabbits slept on a foxÃ¢â ¬â„¢s head,Ã¢â ¬Â• and, Ã¢â ¬Å“Six elephants jumped over a giraffe.Ã¢â ¬Â• Exercises like these help to make learning fun, even at home.Four sections of this workbook help students develop their cursive writing skills at a variety of levels:Part 1 is the basic level. Students practice handwriting motions by tracing dotted sentences.Part 2 advances to help students begin to write on their own. In this section, students first trace a dotted sentence and then copy the sentence onto a new line. The three traditional horizontal lines are included as a guide - solid top and bottom lines plus a dashed middle line help students master the relative heights of the letters, and to write across the page in straight lines.Part 3 gives solid sentences instead of dotted sentences. At this stage, students practice their handwriting without first tracing the letters.Part 4 is the most advanced stage. The given sentences are now printed and students must now rewrite them in cursive.Beginners may wish to start out with a more basic book that offers practice with individual letters before advancing to complete sentences, such as the Letters, Words, and Silly Phrases Handwriting Workbook.May your students or children improve their handwriting skills and enjoy reading and writing these wacky sentences.

My grandson, age 10, is having a difficult time with cursive writing. And an even harder time practicing, Try telling an active boy that it's time to practice his cursive and watch his face fall. I found these workbooks, with jokes & riddles, and they made it a lot easier to get him to do it; plus I bribe for better grades. He likes these practice books about as much as any 10-yr-old could like a cursive practice book. They are a huge help.

Great practice for cursive writing. Both my 9 and 11 year old used it to learn and enhance their cursive writing. It begins with tracing the words, then tracing once and writing the same sentences, and finally looking at the sentence in print and writing it in cursive. The sentences are funny and cute - not too long to get boring.

A great teaching tool for teaching an upper elementary child how to write in cursive. The fact that the sentences are "wacky" just help to make the learning easy. I'm very satisfied with the product and its results.

As a teacher, I'm aware of the connection that handwriting - cursive handwriting, specifically - has with learning in the brain; as a dyslexia teacher, I know the value that it has to the dyslexic brain in writing and spelling with automaticity and fluidity. Sadly, my district decided about 10 years ago that it wasn't an important enough skill in the Age of Testing to spend time on it. Not so in Ms. Standefer's middle school classes.When my students have a few minutes before the next assignment, they grab one of these short practice pieces, at least three times per week. They're proud of their improved handwriting and I've heard a couple of them comment to friends in their other classes that they should learn to write properly. Yeah, they used that word, too. Love that middle school age.....While the book says "Third and Fourth Grade", it's mainly the content that's a bit silly for older kids, not the cursive exercises, themselves. I'll be looking next for something with lines of poetry or quotes.

Our kids aren't learning cursive anymore so we bought this so they could learn on their own. They love this workbook. They will pick them up on their own just to work on their cursive writing.

My ten year old really likes this book. Very silly sentences. he always says, That makes NO SENSE! and laughs. Then he copies it.

I thought perhaps it was just my school district, but I've confirmed with several educators in other locations, teachers no longer teach children to write in cursive. My 11 year old son's cursive has many opportunities for improvement. This book meets the goals!

My 12 yo enjoys cursive practice, and this book allows her to simply write without any of the instruction of other cursive books that are designed for younger kids. She likes the goofy sentences, too.
