The Little World Of Liz Climo

Synopsis

Artist Liz Climo has charmed her fans with her comic world of whimsical animal characters, where everyone from grizzly bears, dinosaurs, rabbits, and anteaters grapple with everyday life with wit and humor. Through her comics, we discover that an armadillo can dress for Halloween, a dinosaur can be a loving parent ... and a rhino can squeeze orange juice! This new collection features more than 100 of her comics, starring her beloved characters in all kinds of funny situations, from celebrating holidays to helping friends.

Liz Climo is a character artist for The Simpsons TV series and has worked on The Lebrons and Seth Macfarlane's Cavalcade of Cartoon Comedy. She also the author of Le Petit Monde de Liz, a comic collection published in France as well as a forthcoming children's book. She lives in Los Angeles.

As I said in the review to her newest book, Climo's comics combine the sheer impossible cuteness of her drawing with wonderful jokes and PUNbelieavable puns. Since her "little world" is about animals behaving like people, it's wonderful to see how she manages to think through what this could imply, given each animal's traits - such as a shark who befriends an otter but can't invite him to come over his house because "I can't breathe under water and your parents keep trying to eat me." Most are light hearted, but she does not avoid joking about shrimps about to be eaten by huge whales, a pig apparently about to be served with salad (which he himself was eating) or suicidal lemmings. I also love how some of the friendships and relationships are inherently impossible, such as the rat who apparently is married to a snake or the above mentioned shark and otter. And many, many are about nothing else than pure cute! She also seems to do some good research to include several different animals, and the way she draws them is something to be admired for itself. Her comics feature animals as diverse as fennec foxes, armadillos and anteaters, which reminds me of Noah's SHark, from the Bible's ARC about Noah and his sons. Climo does publish many of her comics on her website, which could make buying her books somewhat unnecessary. But I really think her books are worth having, and serve as wonderful gifts - give the power of cute!

I love Liz Climo's comics. I follow her on Instagram so prior to receiving this calendar, I was already pretty familiar with some of her characters, little jokes, etc. Turning the page to a new day/comic is the highlight of my workday mornings. My colleague loves them too and makes me wait for her to come visit before we look at the new day's comic. My only critique is that a lot of the comics are her previously published material; so if you have one of her books or follow her on Instagram like I do, you'll see repeats.

A splendiferous collection of cute and funny cartoons featuring an assortment of anthropomorphized animals in wonderfully whimsical situations. Use this book to judge whether or not you and others around you have a sense of humor. If your name is Sarah and you haven't bought this book yet after seeing my copy then I am taking you off my list of the most awesome people to have ever likened themselves to the noble platypus.

What fun! Gentle but at times cutting humor -- not really for children -- was having a bad day and picked this up and went all the way through it -- by the time I finished I was smiling and had even laughed out loud. I love her illustrations. So good to see the caring attitudes between "friends" -- we need so much more of this in today's world.

Had to get this one, after having the 2017 version. We had two day to day calendars and this one was always funny and made me smile. The other one we have from a different company was not entertaining at all, we actually tossed it out halfway through this year.

I'm loving this so far! There are so many cute and work-appropriate comics to share with coworkers throughout the day. Crazy adorable and punny/cheeky/precious cartoons.

We bought this as a present to our friend. She loves it, sending us some of the jokes time to time.
One of the best way to have your friends remember you the year around :)

A wonderful way to start the day. Liz Climo is extremely talented. Would buy again :)
