Customer Reviews

I purchased this book for my Pharmacology class and it did not come with a CD-ROM. It did come with login instructions to get access to the online Smarthinking site, however, the instructions don't work and when trying to contact the technical support they can only provide the following answer "Access to your account has changed. You must now go to The Point at [...]. From here, you will be able to create your account. At this time, we do not have any other specific instructions on this. However, for any clarifications, you may contact Lippincott Williams & Wilkins customer support at 1-800-638-3030." which is the least helpful answer ever, especially when I try to create an account it asks for an access code. I contacted the customer service over the phone and found out that Smarthinking is separate from Lippincott Williams & Wilkins and they can't help with access issues. The customer service rep with LWW was very nice and even provided me with an access code to access the site, it was, unfortunately, just for the wrong book :-). I would recommend purchasing the version of this book that doesn't come with the online access and save yourself some money and headache. I can't comment yet on the contents of the book, as I have only read through the first few chapters and my class just started yesterday.

I don't know if it was the text book or the teacher, but this book was completely useless for my Pharm class. It jumps around and isn't very well organized within each section. I don't recommend it and I made that clear to my nursing school Director for next year.

Super awesome!! Received the book within two days of ordering. Great condition. The only "use" was notes and highlighting in the first chapter. For what I paid it far exceeded my expectations. Thanks again!!
